60-Day Limit Set For POW Trades

Truce Negotiators Reporting More Compromises And Swaps

MUNSAN, Feb. 13 — (AP)—Allied negotiators have accepted a 60-day limit on exchanging prisoners and offered to compromise their demands for supervising a Korean truce.

The Communists had proposed the 60-day limit. The exchange period is to start when an armistice is signed. The agreement does not touch the key question of voluntary repatriation.

The United Nations Command, holding 132,000 prisoners, had wanted 30 days more than was allowed the Reds to complete the exchange. The Reds list only 11,559 men in Red POW camps.

Allied staff officers negotiating details for supervising a truce offered a two-point compromise:

1—If Communists agree to rotating 40,000 troops a month in addition to men on temporary leave, the Allies will drop two demands the Reds oppose.

Truman Said About Ready To Announce

Visitor Says Big Question's Answer Due In 10-15 Days

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 — (AP)—Benjamin G. Browdy, president of the Zionist Organization of America, said President Truman told him Wednesday he will make up his mind "within the next 10 or 15 days" whether to run for reelection.

Browdy, after a call at the White House, also told reporters:

"Judging by his remarks, I'd say he will run again. I personally hope he will."

Only Tuesday, Rep. Sabath (D-Ill.) quoted the President as telling him he might make the "sacrifice" and seek reelection if it would serve world peace.

Browdy said that in two tours of the country recently he sensed strong sentiment for Mr. Truman. He said he told the President of this adding:

"I urged upon him to run for reelection."

"He said he would make up his mind within the next 10 to 15 days. I think he's going to run again."

BROWDY IS A textile operator with mills in Alabama and Georgia. His home is Brooklyn and he has his office in New York City.

During a tour of about 25 cities, he said, he addressed about 130 Zionist and business meetings.

Explaining his call at the White House he said he wanted to talk to the President before leaving March 2 for a session of the Jewish Agency in Israel. He said he talked over foreign aid for Israel with the President.

Mr. Truman has several times told news conferences he has made up his mind, but was not ready to say what he would do.

Tuesday, Sabath represented the President as feeling he had had enough of the job but as willing to run again if he became convinced it would serve world peace.

Kefauver Due To Campaign Here In Ohio

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 — (AP)—Kefauver backers expect the Tennessee senator to conduct an extensive speaking campaign in Ohio during the last two weeks of April—just before the primary.

Rep. Hays (D-Ohio), a leader in the campaign to pledge Ohio's Democratic national convention delegates for Kefauver, said plans will be worked out this week.

Kefauver forces have entered a slate of 45 delegate candidates to rival a slate entered by Democratic state organization supporters of Former Senator Robert J. Bulkley of Cleveland as Ohio's "favorite son" at the convention.

Ohio will send 54 delegates to the Democratic convention.

Hays said he probably will speak throughout Ohio in support of the Kefauver presidential candidacy. Kefauver will make several appearances in Ohio before starting his all-out campaign for Ohio delegates.

Hays said the senator will speak in Warren Feb. 21, in East Liverpool the next afternoon, and in Marietta the night of Washington's birthday.

GOP Takes Deep Breath After Lincoln Talks

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 — (AP)—Republicans from coast to coast took a deep breath Wednesday after Lincoln Day speeches aimed mostly as blasts against the Democratic administration.

Three GOP aspirants for the presidency—former Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota, Senator Taft of Ohio and Gov. Earl Warren of California—were among those who had their say.

Stassen, in Denver and Salt Lake City, called for "ending seven years of mismanaged Missouri misrule of our nation's government." He accused the Truman administration of waste, loose spending and "unnecessary loss of lives of American sons."

Taft, in Seattle, said Chiang Kai-shek's forces on Formosa, now neutralized, could "protect the island chain which is our Pacific shield and . . . prevent Communist conquest of Southeast Asia."

IF LINCOLN were President today, Warren said in Boston, he would block Communism's spread by uniting freedom-loving nations in an "affirmative program." He urged Republicans to give leadership "to a bewildered nation, depressed by confusion and fear."

But a Democrat in Washington said the orations indicate Republicans have "gone a long way" from Abraham Lincoln's principles. Said Sen. Moody of Michigan: "Some, I regret to say, are using the anniversary of this great man's birth merely as a stage-setting for unbridled attacks on the very things he stood for—on government action to implement the human rights and human justice to which he dedicated his career and his life."

Other Lincoln Day developments:

1. Rep. Sabath of Illinois came out of the White House saying President Truman told him he might seek the presidency again, if it would serve world peace.

2. In Carlisle, Pa., Senator Duff of Pennsylvania contended a "Hitlerian" group within the Republican Party has organized a hate campaign dealing in "vicious personalities." Duff is a Republican and a leader of the Eisenhower-for-President movement.

3. SENATOR Kefauver of Tennessee, only announced candidate for the Democratic nomination, said in Chicago both parties should join forces to fight "the influence of crime and the influence of anarchy between them and some few men in public life."

4. In Baton Rouge, La., Louisiana's pro-Eisenhower Republicans tried to show in court that a Taft leader was behind action nullifying a GOP primary vote favorable to Eisenhower. The Jan. 15 balloting gave Eisenhower forces 10 of 12 contested seats on the party's state central committee. Two weeks later, the committee declared the election illegal.

New Gadget To Prevent Car Skids

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 13 — (AP)—A Los Angeles inventor is displaying a simple device which he says will keep automobiles from skidding on slippery roads.

Dr. William Ross, the inventor, calls it the gyro-skid control. The device, weighing 45 pounds, is placed on the cross rear member of a car, parallel with the rear axle.

It consists of a steel tube 36 inches long and three inches in diameter. Inside the tube is a 35-pound sliding steel bar weight. The bar is free to slide back and forth laterally on ball bearings. There are springs inside each end of the tube.

"It acts as a counter centrifugal force," Dr. Ross explained. "Since skidding is a result of lateral displacement of weight the counter centrifugal action of this device, replacing that weight, prevents skidding."

He said the device employs a basic law of physics and that even though the moving bar weighs only 35 pounds it exerts powerful force on a heavy car.

Dr. Ross said the device will even cut down skidding on a fast stop. He said "horizontal vibration, by force and aft motion, starts an automatic counter lateral vibration in the gyro-skid control."

He said this acts to "dampen all horizontal vibration and maintain equal distribution of weight on the rear wheels."

Mrs. Howard Jones Dies At 93

Known Writer And Historian

Mrs. Howard Jones, 93, widow of one of Circleville's most prominent physicians, died at 6:55 p. m. Tuesday in Circleville Home and Hospital, where she had resided since Jan. 1, 1950.

Born Oct. 8, 1858 in Newburg, N. Y., she was the daughter of the Rev. Hildeburn and Isabell Mathews McMullen. Her father was pastor of the Presbyterian church of Glendale, O.

She came to Circleville with her parents and brothers and sisters in 1871 from Danville, Ky., where her father held a pastorate.

In 1882 she was married to Dr. Howard Jones in Glendale. He preceded her in death on Dec. 12, 1945.

PROMINENT AS a writer, historian and civic leader, Mrs. Jones was organizer of The Monday Club. She was one of a group to organize the Pickaway County Historical Society and in 1910 was made its chairman.

It was through the personal efforts of Mrs. Jones that Ohio History Day was established. She was president emerita of the Ohio History Day association, and headed this organization from its establishment until 1942.

For two years she was chairman of the school beautification program, committee of the State Parent-Teachers organization. During World War I, she was chairman of Pickaway County's food conservation committee of the Woman's Council for National Defense.

Later, through her work with the Historical Society, she became a life member of the Ohio State Archaeological Society and National Historical association.

The infirmity from which she suffered for many years aroused in her an interest in others similarly afflicted and she became an interested member of the National League for Hard of Hearing.

As a writer, she contributed many articles and letters to the Circleville Papyrus Club, which she joined shortly after its organization. Her sprightly letters and excellent verse were always an inspiration to her friends. She was a

Scientists Work Eight Weeks For Three-Minute Eclipse Peek

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 — (AP)—The next total eclipse of the sun will be all over in the space of three minutes. But consider the work that goes into preparing for those three minutes!

First of all, government scientists decide on the best possible place for viewing the moon passing over the sun's face.

For the Feb. 25 eclipse, they have agreed on Khartoum, halfway around the world in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

After some preliminary work in the States, a field team headed by Dr. George Van Biesbroeck, Yerkes Observatory astronomer, went to Khartoum around the first of the year.

Eight weeks' planning at Khartoum was necessary for the important three minutes. Concrete footings were poured to support the National Geographic Society's huge, tripod-mounted telescope-camera.

WHEN ZERO hour comes on the 25th, the American team may find that all its work has been for naught. If it rains or a dust cloud or sand storm swirls up to distort the view, there may be nothing worth looking at.

But the chances are against it. That's why Khartoum was chosen. Rains and clouds are practically unknown there in February.

The Air Force considers the study very important. It hopes to be able to chart vast areas of the earth's surface for new air maps with less than a 200-foot margin of error.

That requires split-second precision and means months and months of preparations and some sizzling heat to endure.

Incidentally, Americans who stay at home won't see the eclipse. Its path will sweep in an arc of 9,000 miles from near the equator to the middle of the Atlantic on one side and Southern Siberia on the other. Khartoum will be right in the middle of the arc.

Bible Leaders Labeled To Be 'Real People'

COLUMBUS, Feb. 13 — (AP)—Modern scholars have revealed Biblical characters as "real people."

Dr. Roy L. Smith of Chicago, speaking at a meeting of the Division of Christian Education of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA, said historical and archaeological research has shown the Bible to be the story of "actual crusaders involved in desperate struggles in behalf of a decent and righteous world."

"We should be 'brave enough' to accept the new approach rather than the 'traditional and mystical approach,'" Dr. Smith said. "We will soon find ourselves face to face with ugly facts mingled with the blood of heroes and martyrs."

He added:

"The book of life is the product of the spiritual searches of living people. It was produced for the inspiration and guidance of those who believe that God is actively engaged in a struggle to establish a world that is righteous, just and decent. And it fortifies the souls of all those, even today, who labor under God toward these same ends."

Cincinnati OK Is Given To Walcutt

Snub Is Deliberate; Tom Herbert's Role Brings Conjecture

CINCINNATI, Feb. 13 — (AP)—The Ohio Republican governor's race had political observers scratching their heads in bewildered amazement Wednesday.

Only the night before, Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, brother to U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft, saw his home county (Hamilton) Republican Party organization denounce and condemn him.

Not only did the Cincinnati area GOP machine scorchingly disown Charles Taft, but they added injury to insult by warmly endorsing one of his two opponents — State Sen. Roscoe Walcutt, rotund Columbusite.

The third GOP aspirant, Former Ohio Gov. Tom Herbert, was not mentioned. Cincinnati GOP leaders explained that Herbert has not sought Hamilton County support.

There has been some conjecture among political observers that Herbert, who first said he would not run, changed his mind and entered the race to split the primary vote—against Walcutt and for Taft.

THE LOCAL GOP organization left no doubt that its snub of Taft was deliberate. It bitterly attacked the Cincinnati's candidacy and his past record, mentioning particularly his "16 jobs under the New Deal and Fair Deal administrations."

It accused him, too, of having associated and supporters who "have fought tooth and nail" in the past to defeat his older brother, Senator Taft.

Lack of the Hamilton County party's support will deal Charles Taft a double blow: (1) It is an obvious handicap when his own hometown organization rebuffs him and

(2) Hamilton County is regarded as the biggest Republican county in Ohio and one of the biggest in the country.

Taft appeared untruffled when informed in Toledo of the action.

He remarked, "it is, of course, their privilege to endorse anyone they want. With the help of my Republican friends, both inside and outside the organization, I expect to carry Hamilton County in the primary on May 6."

The resolution stated that Charles Taft "has for 20 years given only lip service to the Republican

Jinx Airport To Be Closed Pending Probe

NEWARK, Feb. 13 — (AP)—Government and airline officials have promised to keep disaster-haunted Newark Airport closed pending congressional "and other responsible official investigations."

Another direct result of the New York metropolitan area's fourth airliner crash in two months is an agreement by 25 airlines to create a special safety committee and to hold flights over congested areas to a minimum.

Government and airline officials met here for almost six hours Tuesday in the wake of Monday's smashup of a National Airlines plane in Elizabeth, N. J. The toll of that catastrophe stands at 32.

Elizabeth's disaster was the third time a plane using Newark Airport crashed in the New Jersey city. A total of 118 passengers and residents have died in two months.

The New York Port Authority called Tuesday's meeting, which was attended by representatives of 25 domestic airlines, three transport association's pilots, the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the Civil Aeronautics Board.

A statement issued after the meetings said the conferees unanimously agreed on all safety policies, including the promise to keep Newark Airport closed until the inquiries are finished.

More Thousands Pay Respects To Dead King

LONDON, Feb. 13 — (AP)—Snow flurried and the temperature dropped to 17 degrees but three grieving Britons—a woman, a hitch-hiker and a crippled war veteran — waited throughout the night to lead new thousands in homage past the bier of King George VI Wednesday.

They were the first of an estimated 15,000 persons lined up at 8 a. m. when the doors of Westminster Hall opened for the second day of public homage to the dead monarch.

By noon a crowd of 30,000—even more than Tuesday—were queued up for more than a mile. Walking two and three abreast on each side of the coffin, they passed through the hall at the rate of 5,000 an hour.

All but one of Europe's remaining ruling sovereigns and other representatives of the world's governments meanwhile hurried to London for the king's funeral Friday, when his body will be taken to Windsor Castle for burial with his ancestors in St. George's Chapel.

First in the line Wednesday was a woman from Oxford. She was there before the doors closed behind the last of Tuesday's pilgrims at 1:45 a. m. But, she said, "I wanted to see the coffin of my king in daylight."

The man behind her had hitchhiked 130 miles from Somerset. He didn't have the railroad fare, he said, but "I had to get here to pay my last respects to a great king."

A crippled veteran of World War II was the third. He said he had driven the 50 miles here from Brighton in his little motorized three-wheel invalid car. He hobbled in on crutches to pay his last respects.

The huge stone hall was cold. It was lit only by the gray daylight filtering through the windows high in the walls and six tall candles which threw a soft light on the closed, standard-draped coffin. The 10-man guard of honor stood still as waxwork figures around it.

The dead king's family remained in seclusion Tuesday, but his daughter and successor, Queen Elizabeth II, granted her first official audience as sovereign to Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who paid his formal respects. In special messages to her armed forces over the world she described herself as the wife of a serving officer and promised to see to the "welfare and efficiency" of the forces.

DEMOCRAT PROMISES APPROVAL

Super Watchdog Panel On Spending Expected

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 — (AP)—Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) announced Wednesday he will move for an early vote on his bill to set up a super watchdog committee on federal spending.

"We're going to pass it," McClellan predicted. He contended government agencies which do the spending "too long have held all the cards" in shaping the multimillion dollar budget.

He said he will move to have the bill called up after the Senate has disposed of the question of admitting Alaska and Hawaii to statehood.

"I think it will get the right-of-way then, and clearly we have plenty of votes to pass it," McClellan declared. He added he "is very hopeful" of strong support for it in the House.

McClellan's bill proposes to set up a Senate-House committee with a staff of investigators to make year-round studies of government spending.

"IT WOULD be a constant searching to see what they do with the money they receive in those administrative agencies, how much they are really going to need in their next budget, and whether it can't be done better at less cost," McClellan said. "We have nothing to refute their claims that they need all they request. We have to base our judgments on the self-serving testimony of those who will spend it."

He said Congress needs the committee as a check against the work of the President's budget bureau. That bureau was created to guide the White House in preparing budgets for Congress, but McClellan contends it studies requests "from the spender's view."

CINCINNATI, Feb. 13 — (AP)—The Ohio Republican governor's race had political observers scratching their heads in bewildered amazement Wednesday.

Only the night before, Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, brother to U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft, saw his home county (Hamilton) Republican Party organization denounce and condemn him.

Not only did the Cincinnati area GOP machine scorchingly disown Charles Taft, but they added injury to insult by warmly endorsing one of his two opponents — State Sen. Roscoe Walcutt, rotund Columbusite.

The third GOP aspirant, Former Ohio Gov. Tom Herbert, was not mentioned. Cincinnati GOP leaders explained that Herbert has not sought Hamilton County support.

There has been some conjecture among political observers that Herbert, who first said he would not run, changed his mind and entered the race to split the primary vote—against Walcutt and for Taft.

THE LOCAL GOP organization left no doubt that its snub of Taft was deliberate. It bitterly attacked the Cincinnati's candidacy and his past record, mentioning particularly his "16 jobs under the New Deal and Fair Deal administrations."

It accused him, too, of having associated and supporters who "have fought tooth and nail" in the past to defeat his older brother, Senator Taft.

Lack of the Hamilton County party's support will deal Charles Taft a double blow: (1) It is an obvious handicap when his own hometown organization rebuffs him and

(2) Hamilton County is regarded as the biggest Republican county in Ohio and one of the biggest in the country.

Taft appeared unfluffed when informed in Toledo of the action.

He remarked, "it is, of course, their privilege to endorse anyone they want. With the help of my Republican friends, both inside and outside the organization, I expect to carry Hamilton County in the primary on May 6."

The resolution stated that Charles Taft "has for 20 years given only lip service to the Republican

Jinx Airport To Be Closed Pending Probe

NEWARK, Feb. 13 — (AP)—Government and airline officials have promised to keep disaster-hunted Newark Airport closed pending congressional "and other responsible official investigations."

Another direct result of the New York metropolitan area's fourth airliner crash in two months is an agreement by 25 airlines to create a special safety committee and to hold flights over congested areas to a minimum.

Government and airline officials met here for almost six hours Tuesday in the wake of Monday's smashup of a National Airlines plane in Elizabeth, N. J. The toll of that catastrophe stands at 32.

Elizabeth's disaster was the third time a plane using Newark Airport crashed in the New Jersey city. A total of 118 passengers and residents have died in two months.

The New York Port Authority called Tuesday's meeting, which was attended by representatives of 25 domestic airlines, three transport association's pilots, the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the Civil Aeronautics Board.

A statement issued after the meetings said the conferees unanimously agreed on all safety policies, including the promise to keep Newark Airport closed until the inquiries are finished.

More Thousands Pay Respects To Dead King

LONDON, Feb. 13 — (AP)—Snow flurried and the temperature dropped to 17 degrees but three grieving Britons—a woman, a hitch-hiker and a crippled war veteran—waited throughout the night to lead new thousands in homage past the bier of King George VI Wednesday.

They were the first of an estimated 15,000 persons lined up at 8 a. m. when the doors of Westminster Hall opened for the second day of public homage to the dead monarch.

By noon a crowd of 30,000—even more than Tuesday—were queued up for more than a mile. Walking two and three abreast on each side of the coffin, they passed through the hall at the rate of 5,000 an hour.

All but one of Europe's remaining ruling sovereigns and other representatives of the world's governments meanwhile hurried to London for the king's funeral Friday, when his body will be taken to Windsor Castle for burial with his ancestors in St. George's Chapel.

First in the line Wednesday was a woman from Oxford. She was there before the doors closed behind the last of Tuesday's pilgrims at 1:45 a. m. But, she said,

"I wanted to see the coffin of my king in daylight."

The man behind her had hitchhiked 130 miles from Somerset. He didn't have the railroad fare, he said, but "I had to get here to pay my last respects to a great king."

A crippled veteran of World War II was the third. He said he had driven the 50 miles here from Brighton in his little motorized three-wheel invalid car. He hobbled in on crutches to pay his last respects.

The huge stone hall was cold. It was lit only by the gray daylight filtering through the windows high in the walls and six tall candles which threw a soft light on the closed, standard-draped coffin. The 10-man guard of honor stood still as waxwork figures around it.

The dead king's family remained in seclusion Tuesday, but his daughter and successor, Queen Elizabeth II, granted her first official audience as sovereign to Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who paid his formal respects. In special messages to her armed forces over the world she described herself as the wife of a serving officer and promised to see to the "welfare and efficiency" of the forces.

Party. His political background has been and is a continuous association with Democrats, whom he has supported and elected to public office.

“HE IS AN intimate of the Madame Perkins and the Dean Achesons, Bosses of the CIO are at this time boasting that through this candidate they intend to grab control of the Republican Party of Ohio.”

Walcutt was praised as qualifying “in every manner as a candidate for whom we can work and of whom we can be proud.”

Walcutt himself, in his home city of Columbus, branded Taft as a “masquerader.” He answered a speech by Taft which asked his (Taft’s) two rivals to state their stand on party unity.

If Taft is really interested in party unity, Walcutt declared, he should “start working for unity in his own hometown, where he has been the chief and most bitter enemy of Republican unity for 25 years.”

Taft was a Charterite councilman in Cincinnati before entering the race for the gubernatorial nomination. The Charterites are composed of Democrats and liberal Republicans.

Taft has stated that he thought his Charterite activities were compatible with his views on party unity.

Walter Ison Given Sentence For Larceny

Walter Ison, 26, of New Holland Route 1, Wednesday began serving a 10-day sentence in Pickaway County jail for petty larceny.

Ison was arrested earlier this week by Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliff in connection with shoplifting thefts in New Holland, Clarksville and Washington C.H.

Deputy Radcliff tracked down Ison after receiving a complaint from New Holland that a man was attempting to sell watches.

Searching the Ison home, Radcliff uncovered a pile of loot shoplifted by the man. Ison admitted taking the merchandise from stores.

ISON WAS FINED $25 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail Wednesday in the court of Magistrate Oscar Root for having stolen $33 worth of tools from the Stewart and White Hardware store in New Holland.

Ross County has two accusations of petty larceny and one for selling stolen goods filed against the man, while he also is accused of having taken merchandise from Moore’s Store in Washington C.H.

Circleville Band Mothers' Group Is Organized

A Circleville Band Mothers' Organization was formed Tuesday night during a meeting in Circleville high school auditorium.

The new group was set up to give aid to the snappy Circleville high school marching band in its uniform-fund campaign.

Mrs. V. D. Kerns was elected president of the organization during the meeting, while Mrs. Collis Young was elected vice-president; Mrs. Tom Hill was elected secretary; and Mrs. Everett Stocklen was elected treasurer.

Approximately 45 local women, mothers of youngsters who play in the band, are members of the new organization. Any mother with children in the junior or senior bands is eligible to join the group.

DURING ITS TUESDAY meeting, the Band Mothers' Organization pledged itself to a campaign to raise funds for new high school band uniforms.

Truman Eberly, director of the band, explained the value of similar organizations in other cities.

Eberly continued that Ohio boards of education are prevented, by law, from furnishing band uniforms and that in other cities auxiliary agencies, such as the one formed here Tuesday, are instrumental in equipping high school bands.

The director stated that only about $1,675.00 is in the local band uniform fund at present. Approximately $3,000 more is needed to completely uniform the CHS band.

In addition, Eberly suggested that a plan be set up to provide several new uniforms a year after the band is re-outfitted, so that large drives in the future can be eliminated.

THE NEW BAND Mothers' Organization later adopted two projects for immediate action. They are: (1) aiding with the Capital university band concert to be staged in Circleville high school March 2; and (2) to begin a concentrated drive for assistance from local organizations, business firms and industrial plants.

Band mothers will meet the first Thursday of every month in the high school auditorium. Next meeting will be 7 p. m. March 6.

3 Co. Schools In Instrumental Music Festival

Three Pickaway County schools will be represented Saturday during an instrumental music festival in Ohio Wesleyan university in Delaware.

Circleville schools will have the largest delegation attending the festival, while Ashville will be second and Walnut Township third.

A total of 14 young musicians from Circleville are to attend the program. They are Charles Magill, Warren Leist, Donald Metzler, Robert Chalfin, Mary Ellen Rader, Marjorie Rinehart, Donnell Ferguson, Ann Downing, Gordon Blake, Theresa Hill, Clyde Cook, Larry Thornton, Sally Cochran and Betty McClure.

REPRESENTING ASHVILLE in the festival will be Rosemary Wright, John Swingle, David L. Frase, Ralph E. Frye, Sharon Ponting, Virginia R. Grove, Nancy Jo Cromley, Carl E. Krieger, Donald R. Partee, Mary Lou Cloud, and Rebecca Dountz.

And Walnut's four instrumentalists for the affair will be Mary Ann Noecker, Mary Moore, Charles Hines, Bonnie Crumley, and Elaine Quillen.

The special festival will begin at about 9 a. m. Saturday in Ohio Wesleyan, with rehearsals and special programs throughout the day.

A broadcast over station WRFD is slated for from 3:05 p. m. until 3:30 p. m. Sunday, a transcription of the concert to be presented to the public at 8 p. m. Saturday.

The local musicians will be a part of a 450-piece band and 150-piece orchestra formed during the day.

Dan Cupid Has Assistant

Western Union is Dan Cupid's No. 1 assistant to the nation's Romeo and Leap Year Juliets.

C. W. Clark, local Western Union manager, announced that the telegraph company expects to deliver over 250,000 Valentine greetings on Feb. 14, the largest since World War II.

"This is Leap Year and the total may go even higher," Clark predicted. "When you combine Leap Year and Valentine's Day, anything can happen."

The local office averages about 50 Valentine greetings each year, Clark said.

Cleveland Road Needs 'Critical'

CLEVELAND, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The State Highway Department's chief engineer has predicted "Cleveland is going to rot to the core" unless funds are found to build new freeways.

Norman M. Wilke, the engineer, said the city would be "strangled by traffic congestion" unless $150 million are spent before 1960 to construct limited access highways.

Touch Of Spring Felt Along Front

SEOUL, Feb. 13.—(AP)—A light touch of spring hit Korea's eastern front Wednesday—along with probing Communist infantrymen.

Allied troops spotted about 200 Reds in the Mundung Valley, but the Communists did not attack. UN warplanes cut Communist rail lines in 35 places Wednesday morning.

regular contributor to The Circleville Herald.

After a disastrous fire on Dec. 2, 1946 which leveled her residence in Park Place, Mrs. Jones resided in Cincinnati.

IN 1950 SHE returned to Circleville where she entered the Home and Hospital. Mrs. Jones continued her many activities and interests in later years, despite her age and illness.

She had been bedfast for the last two years and seriously ill for the past two weeks.

Surviving are two sons, Hildeburn Jones of Cincinnati; Dr. Lloyd Jones of Circleville; two daughters Miss Eleanor Jones of Akron and Mrs. Virginia Kitzmiller of Providence, R. I.; five grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Arrangements being made by Mader Chapel are incomplete.

Two Mansfield Men Fined On Driving Counts

Two Mansfield men were assessed a total of $27.40 in the court of Mayor Ed Amey Wednesday morning for driving violations.

Charles W. Stallard, 34, was fined $5 and $8.70 in costs for permitting an unlicensed driver to operate an automobile.

James Powers Jr., 22, was fined $5 and $8.70 in costs for failure to possess an operator's license.

Both men were arrested at 1:45 p. m. Wednesday on North Court street by Officers Charles Smith and Milo Wise.

TV Show Proves Too On-The-Spot

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Study this face on your television screen, the announcer said, because this man is wanted for investigation of housebreaking.

Mrs. H. H. Knowles, at home in nearby Alexandria, Va., studied the face. A knock on the door interrupted her. She walked over and looked through the peephole.

Yipes! Same Face! The man fled.

Three Persons Lose Driving Rights Here

Three persons—two men and a woman—lost their driving privileges for one year each when they appeared in Pickaway County common pleas court Wednesday for drunken driving.

Mrs. Samuel Weldon, 43, of Columbus, was fined $25 and costs, sentenced to 30 days in jail and had her license suspended for one year by the court.

Mrs. Weldon was arrested on Route 104 late Monday following a hit-skip accident in Circleville. She was fined $50 and costs Tuesday for having left the scene of an accident.

William Caskey, 35, of Ashville Route 2, was fined $10 and costs, sentenced to 30 days in jail and lost his driving rights for one year.

CASKEY WAS ARRESTED on Route 23 north of Circleville by State Highway Patrolman R. R. Greene.

And Charles T. Brown, 37, of Circleville Route 3, was fined $25 and costs, sentenced to 30 days in jail and had his license suspended one year.

Brown was arrested near Ashville Monday by Willard Foreman, special Ashville policeman. The arrest followed a minor accident.

The court later suspended the jail sentences against the trio in favor of 18-month probations.

All three drunken drivers appeared before the court of Judge William D. Radcliff on affidavits presented by Prosecutor Guy Cline.

Martin Garner To Attend NCO School In Berlin

Cpl. Martin Garner, son of Mrs. Mazie Garner of 237 East Mill street, has been selected to attend a six-weeks noncommissioned officers school operated by the Berlin Military Post, in Berlin, Germany.

In Berlin since September, 1951, Garner is an assistant squad leader with the Sixth Infantry Regiment.

He will receive specialized instruction in command and leadership, tactics, weapons, administration and standardized instruction techniques.

The course is designed to help the noncommissioned officers maintain the high standard of leadership required by the Army.

Home Is Given Appropriation

Pickaway County commissioners have made an additional appropriation of $240 for the Pickaway County Children's Home.

The commissioners made the appropriation for the purpose of increasing the salaries of Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Koch, superintendent and matron for the Home.

The commissioners said the salaries of the couple will be increased $10 per month through the new appropriation.

Pusan Black Mart Guttled By Flames

PUSAN, Feb. 13.—(AP)—A wind-swept fire Wednesday gutted Pusan's busiest black market section. A government representative said the loss probably would total $130,000.

The fire started in a house crowded with refugees and black market goods. In three hours it destroyed 100 small shop-dwellings and 85 other homes.

Joe Carlo Named To Coach Newark Gridders

Joe Carlo, former all-around athlete in Baldwin-Wallace college, was named Wednesday to take over head football coach duties in Newark high school.

The appointment came as a promotion for Carlo, who served five years as line coach before Newark Mentor Ray Schick resigned this year.

Coach Steve Brudzinski of Circleville high school was one of about 30 applicants for the Newark post.

None of the applicants was considered by the Newark board, however, in view of the promotion of Carlo.

Brudzinski said Wednesday that he has made no other applications. He indicated, however, that he is in the market for a higher-paying post if the opportunity arises.

CHURCH-STATE DEBATE GROWS

Can Government Show Much Interest In God?

Editor's Note: This is the third of a series on church-state relationships in the United States.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—What interest should the government take in God?

That's the heart of a question which has produced a growing debate in the nation's courts and communities.

"The First Amendment," says the United States Supreme Court, "has erected a wall of separation between church and state which must be kept high and impregnable."

But some feel, in the words of the Roman Catholic bishops of the U. S., that absolute separation is an "utter distortion" of American traditions that threatens to "ban God from public life."

OTHERS SAY, in the words of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, that the separation principle is "being questioned, challenged and undermined in many quarters." Yet they too call for greater spiritual emphasis.

Varying attitudes have developed on a score of modern issues stemming from the central problem. It has "vexed and divided Americans" and the courts as well, said Historian Henry Steele Commager.

At the roots is the struggle of a nation to reinforce its moral foundations in the face of rampant materialism and Communism, and at the same time, to safeguard the religious rights of each man.

It has aroused keen feelings about religion and the schools, government aid to sectarian institutions, and diplomatic dealings with the Vatican. Such matters as Sunday laws, conscientious objectors, compulsory flag saluting, among other things, also have become involved.

Commager put it this way: The riddle is over "where the line is to be drawn between conscience and authority."

HOW CAN the government of a nation, with 250 religious sects within its borders, (1) favor any without offending others, or (2) favor all without offending nonbelievers, agnostics or supporters of non-religious systems of ethics?

The U. S. Constitution—the supreme law of the land—pays homage to no deity. Its laws spurn any distinctions between methodism, atheism or voodooism.

But the division between church and state never has been complete. Here are a few ways the government shows interest in God:

1. Its coins bear the words—"In God We Trust."
2. Churches are tax-exempt. Con-

Grandma Has It Tough These Days

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 13.—Grandmother has it tough these days.

"She finds there is little housework these days and there is no one to need her," Dr. Evelyn Mills Duvall, Chicago, secretary of the National Council of Family Relations, declared.

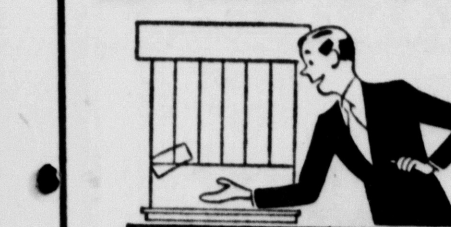

"Her husband is at the prime of life, probably at the peak of his productive period, and so he feels happy and contented. But she finds herself lost."

Prince Charlie Is Learning Fast

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The three-year-old heir to the British throne is learning fast.

Don't be hurt or embarrassed, boys, if the girl who is introduced to you doesn't shake hands. Some do and some don't, it's perfectly correct both ways. Best way to acknowledge an introduction is to say, "How do you do" (never "Hello"), and wait to see if she offers her hand.

When boys and men are introduced to each other, they do shake hands. When girls and women are introduced to each other, it's optional. Remember, if a girl doesn't shake hands with you, it's correct manners, and doesn't mean that she's unfriendly or doesn't like you.

There's no law against saying "Hello" or "Hi" to classmates and others when you pass them in the corridors at school, day after day, and when you see them outside school. Whether you know each other or not and whether you have been introduced or not, it's good manners and a friendly, popularity-boosting custom to say, "Hello"

CHURCH-STATE DEBATE GROWS

Can Government Show Much Interest In God?

Editor's Note: This is the third of a series on church-state relationships in the United States.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13—(AP)—What interest should the government take in God?

That's the heart of a question which has produced a growing debate in the nation's courts and communities.

"The First Amendment," says the United States Supreme Court, "has erected a wall of separation between church and state which must be kept high and impregnable."

But some feel, in the words of the Roman Catholic bishop of the U. S., that absolute separation is an "utter distortion" of American traditions that threatens to "ban God from public life."

OTHERS SAY, in the words of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, that the separation principle is "being questioned, challenged and undermined in many quarters." Yet they too call for greater spiritual emphasis.

Varying attitudes have developed on a score of modern issues stemming from the central problem.

It has "exposed and divided Americans" and the courts as well, said Historian Henry Steele Commager.

At the roots is the struggle of a nation to reinforce its moral foundations in the face of rampant materialism and Communism, and at the same time, to safeguard the religious rights of each man.

It has aroused keen feelings about religion and the schools, government aid to sectarian institutions, and diplomatic dealings with the Vatican. Such matters as Sunday laws, conscientious objectors, compulsory flag - saluting, among other things, also have become involved.

Commager put it this way: The riddle is over "where the line is to be drawn between conscience and authority."

HOW CAN the government of a nation, with 250 religious sects within its borders, (1) favor any without offending others, or (2) favor all without offending nonbelievers, agnostics or supporters of non-religious systems of ethics?

The U. S. Constitution—the supreme law of the land—pays homage to no deity. Its laws spurn any distinctions between methodism, atheism or voodooism.

But the division between church and state never has been complete. Here are a few ways the government shows interest in God:

- 1. Its coins bear the words—"In God We Trust."
- 2. Churches are tax-exempt. Con-

"She finds there is little housework these days and there is no one to need her," Dr. Evelyn Mills Duval, Chicago, secretary of the National Council of Family Relations, declared.

"Her husband is at the prime of life, probably at the peak of his productive period, and so he feels happy and contented. But she finds herself lost."

LONDON, Feb. 13—(AP)—The three-year-old heir to the British throne is learning fast.

Prince Charles was quick to respond today as a sentry presented arms when the little boy was brought home from his daily romp in a nearby park. The Prince raised his right hand to the brim of his blue hat and smiled.

HE LABORED TIRELESSLY

THOMAS ALVA EDISON, described by one reference work as "extraordinary dean of American inventors," was born 105 years ago, on February 11, 1847. No man had a greater impact on the lives of people of America and of the world. His important inventions—the electric light, the phonograph, the electric storage battery, and scores of others—are inextricably woven into the pattern of modern living.

Self-educated, Edison was never a good business man, but so productive was his fertile brain that he was worth $40,000,000 when he died. Edison was a life-long advocate of industry, and none of his contemporaries worked so tirelessly. When he was in the midst of perfecting one of his great inventions he worked day and night with little sleep. The 40-hour-week had no appeal for him.

Edison was one of the Giants who made this country. As is the case with many others, his name and accomplishments have never received the homage that should be bestowed. Ceremonies were held honoring the great inventor on the fiftieth anniversary of the invention of the electric light and a special postage stamp celebrating the event was issued. Since Mr. Edison's death a few years after that event little public tribute has been paid to his greatness.

CALL TO INGENUITY

AMERICAN ingenuity should be at work now on the weapons of 1960 and 1970, says Charles E. Wilson, director of defense mobilization. The U. S. can never hope to equal the potential enemy in manpower. Its only hope is to keep long steps ahead of the aggressor in those weapons which the age of electronics will produce.

For that reason Mr. Wilson is not unduly concerned by the relatively slow pace of weapon production. Weapon deliveries of $2 billion a month are not alarmingly slow in view of the fact that weapons produced now may be outmoded in five years or less. But this nation is constantly enlarging its base of production. If a showdown comes the U. S. will be in position to pour out the latest in weapons at a more rapid rate than Russia.

The factor of ingenuity is all important. If American scientists and inventors should fall behind the reds in weapon perfection, the communists' superior manpower will be a formidable menace. But this country has led in this field for years, and there is no reason to doubt that it will continue to do so.

The unsatisfactory phase is Wilson's guess that the world will still be under the threat of war a decade or two hence. Such a prospect is disheartening, to say the least.

A coal mining community in West Virginia—population 1,400—is reportedly the first corporate city in the country to use plastic pipes for a municipal water supply and distribution system.

Everybody is being warned that national frankfurter and sauerkraut week will be observed, starting Feb. 7.

No Hemp Necktie Party Wanted

TAMPA, Fla.—The pirate past lives again here in one of the nation's greatest festivals.

It is the Carnival of Gasparilla, a five-day holiday of fun and frolic inspired by the deeds and misdeeds of legendary old Jose Gaspar, Florida's equivalent of the Mardi Gras. Each year it draws crowds estimated by police at 500,000 to 600,000. People drive up to 200 miles or more to see it, wait up all night in parked cars in order to have a good vantage point for the parade.

To tourists the celebration is a high point of the winter season. It is begun by a mock invasion of the city by Ye Mystic Krewes of Gasparilla. They are some 350 Tampa business and social leaders dressed as freebooters, complete with cutlasses and black eye patches.

At a coronation ball, the city's social king and queen were crowned. Today, 7,000 children marched in a parade symbolizing the unity of America's 48 states. The pirate band will lead a torchlight parade Thursday through Ybor City, Tampa's Spanish section. On Saturday they board ship again and sail away, ending the festival.

"And all next week the men will be so tired and quiet you could hear a pin drop anywhere in the city," one wife said.

The festival, begun in 1904 and financed by a wealthy cigar manufacturer, surprised and pleased the city. It has grown each year until now civic groups chip in some $250,000 to make it a success.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

The past two wars conclusively establish that although the soldier and sailor risk their lives, victory is as much a product of the factory, mill and mine as of the actual fighting on the field of battle.

The engineer then is not only a contributor to peacetime production; he is of even more importance in time of war. It is estimated that there is at present a shortage of about 60,000 engineers and that the number will increase. The term, engineer, does not include laboratory workers in the scientific fields, that is, biologists, chemists and physicists, the last so significant in atomic fission.

Several causes are given for the shortage, the principal one being that during the indiscriminate draft of World War II, too many boys were taken out of college. The accelerated courses, which some schools employed, made it possible to distribute degrees, if not learning, but it did not help the young men who aspired to engineering and science.

While it is possible to skim through a course in government, from Aristotle to Karl Marx, it is not possible to take the work in the fields of engineering or science in one's stride. The result is the present shortage.

One estimate puts it that industry requires about 30,000 engineers each year for replacement and growth; in 1952, there will be 25,000 new graduates in this course; in 1954, perhaps as few as 12,000. Obviously, these figures show that the shortage will increase. Should we face a large draft, the number of young men who will have an opportunity to study engineering will be fewer.

This is one of those vexed problems for which there can be no easy answer. Many parents and officials feel that a draft can be fair only if all are called on a basis of equality. They contend that what is involved is a young man's life and that the smart boy should be required to make the same sacrifices as the dull boy.

On the other hand, there is no use sending troops into the field without adequate equipment and that is a problem of engineering. Napoleon said that an army moves on its stomach, but today it moves in airplanes, tanks, jeeps and submarines, requiring the services of engineers. It also engages in chemical and biological warfare and manufactures atom bombs. The engineer and the scientist therefore keep the Army, Navy and Air Force in supply.

Not all men are equal in their fitness for service in the engineering and scientific fields. A mother once said to me that while her son was no good at trigonometry, he had a fine character, and that therefore the smart boy should have no advantage over her son in a democratic country.

The boy without mathematics cannot possibly perform certain essential tasks without which we not only can but surely will be defeated. It takes a special type of personality to work for hours and days in a laboratory to find a formula. The extrovert is not likely to have the patience for such labor or even to accept preliminary disciplines for the development of the coldly logical mind essential for any engineering or scientific work.

Intellectual capacity does appear at very early years. It is possible to give high school students aptitude tests, to watch their marks and their interests, and to know whether they will ever be suitable students in engineering and scientific courses. Most students would fail at such work, and it is possible to know that, too.

The problem then is to select the prospective engineers and scientists for specialization without interfering with the broad concept that all boys are equal in the eyes of the draft, or in Universal Military Training.

Scientists say human beings 10,000 years ago were no smarter than they are now.

Allergies in Elderly People

By HERMAN N. DUNDESEN, M.D.

IT is interesting to note that elderly folk are less apt to have many of the bothersome allergies, for allergic conditions, such as asthma, hay fever, skin rashes and urticaria, are found more frequently in the younger age groups.

This difference is very noticeable in hay fever, allergic migraine, food allergy and all allergies in which a substance comes in contact with the skin. It seems that the skin of an aged person is less likely to become allergic. At the same time, it is less likely to heal from wounds and injuries as promptly as the skin of a younger person.

Thus, while a skin allergy rarely occurs after a person is well along in life, it is very stubborn and hard to treat if it does occur.

Allergic reactions to drugs are just the opposite—they are more frequent in the elderly than in young people. This difference may be due to the fact that elderly people take drugs much more than younger adults or youngsters.

More and more we are getting reports of many elderly people who are having allergic reactions when treated with the new sulfonamide and antibiotic drugs.

Allergy in Nose

Very common in the aged is a persistent allergy of the membranes in the nose. Many of these people, with noses always running and stuffed up, are really suffering from a form of allergy often seen in their age group. This disorder should not be neglected, but should be treated, since it may lead to asthma in the aged. This type of asthma is common, and is usually complicated by some other form of lung disease. Even a chronic cough in an aged person may sometimes be due entirely to an allergy.

Examining and treating an aged person for allergy call for special care. Skin tests to determine allergies are not too reliable in these people.

Great caution is also required in treating elderly persons with drugs, such as the antihistamine drugs, ephedrin compounds and, especially, ACTH and cortisone. These drugs can be dangerous if used indiscriminately. It is very unwise to use them for an allergy without a physician's advice.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. L.: What had reactions can one get from taking ACTH or cortisone?

Answer: An excessive gain in weight, due to failure to eliminate fluids from the body, excessive growth of hair, as well as loss of hair, and mental depression may occur. However, if the drugs are administered under the supervision of a physician, these complications are infrequent.

A father in Red Bank, New Jersey, rather honestly answered, "I have never noticed my daughter assume the role of leader, but I do know she is an excellent follower."

Vassar's reply, as reported by the Journal of Education, was, "As our freshman group next fall seems to be composed almost exclusively of several hundred leaders, we congratulate ourselves that your daughter will also be a member of the class. We shall thus be assured of one good follower, at any rate. Her application is approved with enthusiasm."

Archaeologists have unearthed a record telling of a 10-day party thrown for 70,000 guests by an Assyrian king back in 800-something B. C. Of course, food prices were a little cheaper then.

On second thought, we'll bet that old fun-loving king was operating on an expense account.

SYNOPSIS
A weakened little Chinaman who refuses to give his name, calls at Johnny Liddell's newly formed detective agency in New York, and pays him well to take care of a small, sealed package. Suspicious Liddell has the fellow "tailed." Federal agents soon descend upon Johnny, concluding the package which they know had been left there by a man named Hong. Johnny starts for the house of Chinatown, suspecting of finding Hong. Giddy, a money fortune teller in the quarter, leads him to Hong's abode. Here, in four dimly-lit rooms, Liddell finds Hong, brutally murdered.

CHAPTER 'TIVE

BACK in the bedroom, Johnny Liddell stirred the pile of clothing thrown from the drawers with the tip of his shoe. He satisfied himself that whatever the killers had been looking for wasn't pasted to the underside of any drawers. Then, he checked the spaces in the bureau behind the drawers, tested the bedposts for concealed hiding places, lit a match in the upper shelf of the closet, tapped the moulding. He found nothing. He had the uncomfortable feeling that the thing the killers had been searching for had, until an hour before, lain carelessly tossed in his own top desk drawer.

He walked back into the outer hall, found a pay phone at the head of the stairs, dialed police headquarters.

"I want to report a murder," he told the bored, metallic voice that had identified itself as "Police headquarters, Sergeant Dolan."

"Give me the location, please," the metallic voice requested.

Liddell gave him the details, promised to stay until the prowler car arrived to take over.

He was on the stoop, finishing a cigarette, when the white-topped police car, skidded to a stop out front and two uniformed men spilled out. "You the guy reported a homicide?" the older of the two asked.

Liddell nodded. "Second floor rear." He led the way up to Hong's flat, answered a few routine questions for one cop, while the other prowled aimlessly through the rooms.

"Old guy was probably one of them misers," the younger cop grunted. "Wonder how much he had stashed away. Probably plenty, huh?"

"Let Homicide worry about that," the older cop advised. He finished with Liddell, walked over to the body, lifted the sheet. "Old guy sure must be stubborn." He dropped the sheet back over the body, found a chair, dropped into it with a sigh. "You better hang around until Homicide gets here."

mister," he told Liddell. "They might have some questions I didn't think about."

The homicide detail was headed by Sergeant Mike Crossan, a tall, slow talking refugee from his native Texas. He nodded to the two uniformed men as he came in, flicked a brief glance at Liddell.

"You find the body?" he asked.

Liddell nodded.

The homicide man walked over to the dead man, whipped the bedsheet off it, studied the wounds with a practiced eye. Then he indicated for the two men with him to take over. He walked over to the two prowler car cops, muttered a few words, took the large leather notebook in which the older cop had noted Liddell's answers to his questions. After a moment, he handed the book back, came over to where Liddell was sitting on the edge of the bed.

"Your name's Liddell?" he drawled.

Liddell nodded, made room for the tall man.

Crossan pushed his broad-brimmed fedora on the back of his head, sat down. "I'm Crossan. Sergeant, homicide," he explained. His eyes roamed around the room, taking in evidences of the search.

"Like this when you got here?" "Haven't touched a thing, sergeant," Liddell told him. "Just tossed a sheet over the old guy. Didn't know how long I'd have to be waiting here."

The homicide man nodded, dug a pack of cigarettes from his jacket pocket. "How'd you happen to find him. Live in the building?" He offered the pack to Liddell, then took one himself.

"No. He was a client of mine. I operate a private detective agency."

Crossan held out a light, waited until Liddell had taken a deep drag, expelled a stream of blue gray smoke. "That's why your name was so familiar. You're the Liddell who broke the Murtha jewel case with Inspector Herley."

He lit his own cigarette, inhaled deeply. "No idea what they were looking for, I suppose?"

"I'm not sure," the sergeant intimated.

Liddell pinched at his nostrils with a thumb and forefinger. "I never saw this guy until this morning. He dropped by my office, paid me a hundred bucks to take care of a package for him."

Crossan raised his eyebrows.

Attorney Ray Davis Speaks On, 'Women In The Life Of Lincoln,' At OES Meeting

Obligation Night Scheduled

A program built around the celebration of Lincoln's birthday was presented following the meeting of Circleville chapter Order of Eastern Star Tuesday evening.

Attorney Ray Davis, a local authority on the Civil War president, was the speaker for the evening. His topic, "Women in the Life of Lincoln," named the three women with whom Lincoln had been closely associated.

According to Mr. Davis they were: Mary Owen of Kentucky who met Lincoln while she was visiting in Illinois; Ann Rutledge, who lived in Illinois and Mary Todd, whom he married and who became the mother of his four sons.

The speaker said: "Tales differ whether or not Ann Rutledge was the special love of his life, but he married Mary Todd, a headstrong, determined woman who pushed him on to fame."

Mr. Davis concluded his address with the reading of a poem by Edwin Markham, "Lincoln, Man of the People."

Attorney Davis also displayed a photo which is thought to be the last taken of President Lincoln and a pass written in Lincoln's handwriting, allowing Thomas B. Lincoln to pass through the battle lines.

Miss Jo Anne Brink sang several vocal selections. She was accompanied by Mrs. Ralph Dunkel who was also a member of the program committee along with Mrs. William Cook, and D. E. McDonald.

In the Red Room, where members were served following the program, the table was centered with a miniature log cabin flanked by red and blue candles in rustic holders.

Mrs. Russell Gibbs was chairman of the refreshment committee. She was assisted by Mrs. Emmett Hinton, Mr. and Mrs. Turney Glick, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wood, Mr. and Mrs. John Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bennett, Mrs. Clayton Vaughan, Mrs. Clem Clark, Mrs. Dunkel, Mrs. Bertha Walker, Mrs. Fred Moeller and Miss Ann Moeller.

Obligation night will be held when OES meets Feb. 26. At that time, Miss Elma Raines will head the serving committee.

Pickaway Garden Club History Read At Meeting

Nineteen years ago a group of flower growers in this community became interested in organizing a garden club and met in the home of Mrs. Orion King to hear an address by Mrs. Samuel Haynes, regional director and organizer of Ohio Association of Garden Clubs.

Out of this meeting, Pickaway Garden Club was formed. Last Friday evening members of the organization met for a covered dish dinner in the home of Mrs. A. J. Lyle, West Mound street and heard a history of the Club given by Mrs. James Moffitt.

The speaker told of the organizational meeting and recalled the first group of officers elected to serve who were:

Mrs. King, president; Mrs. Moffitt, vice-president; Mrs. John Dunlap Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. Lee Shaner, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ella Hornbeck, treasurer; Mrs. C. C. Watts, historian and Miss Mary Wilder, librarian.

Mrs. Moffitt said, "Through the years Mr. Leslie Pontius, Robert

Washington Grange Meets

Twenty-four members and juveniles were present for the meeting of Washington Grange, held Friday evening in Washington Township school.

David Bolender, delegate to State Grange convention, gave a report.

The program which followed featured the horse with readings on various breeds, where and how they are used.

Paul Elliott gave a talk on, "Wild Horses of the West." He also joined with Ralph DeLong in singing a vocal solo, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. DeLong.

Next meeting will be held one week later than the regular date on Feb. 29. At that time there will be a "pound" auction.

A. W. Bosworth Is Honored

Mrs. A. W. Bosworth entertained recently with a turkey dinner in honor of her husband's birthday.

Those present were: the Rev. and Mrs. H. Glen Crabtree and son Jack of Troy; Frank Sinarto of Crestline; Miss Margaret Lamb of Martens Ferry; Miss Ruth Norporth of Ashville and Orley Bosworth of the home.

Couples Club Hears Talk On 'History Of Foods'

Presbyterian Couples Club of Geneva Fellowship met Sunday evening in the social rooms of the church. A covered dish dinner was served to members of the club and their guests. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Boener and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Cunningham were hosts for the occasion.

Ed Grigg presided at the business meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Hal Spencer were placed in charge of finding overnight lodging for members of the Wooster Glee Club, appearing in the Presbyterian church, Mar. 22.

Emerson Spicer was appointed to supervise construction of platforms for use of the primary Sunday School department.

Milton Patterson, program chairman, introduced Tom Parsons who spoke to the group on the "History of Food." He said, in part:

"It is a mystery how people found certain foods were good to eat. Some foods we eat belong to, or are closely related to families which are very poisonous. Grasses are the plants most useful to mankind."

"The history of potatoes is most varied. First eaten and cultivated by the Inca Indians, there are more varieties of potatoes than any other vegetable. It differs in each place it grows because of climate and soil.

"Tomatoes were first called love apples and were thought to be deadly poisonous. They were grown simply because they looked nice in a flower garden."

"If one wonders why some things were not eaten sooner, it was because our early European forbears set great store by what the Bible said about food. They refused for many years to eat potatoes and rice because they were not mentioned in the Bible. Onions and garlic were considered products of the devil."

"Carrots were originally used for decorations in place of feathers and also to color butter. The oils from carrots were rubbed into furs as a protection against moths."

In conclusion Mr. Parsons mentioned unusual foods originating in foreign countries.

Next meeting of the group will be March 9.

Pickaway Garden Club History Read At Meeting

Nineteen years ago a group of flower growers in this community became interested in organizing a garden club and met in the home of Mrs. Orion King to hear an address by Mrs. Samuel Haynes, regional director and organizer of Ohio Association of Garden Clubs.

Out of this meeting, Pickaway Garden Club was formed. Last Friday evening members of the organization met for a covered dish dinner in the home of Mrs. A. J. Lyle, West Mound street and heard a history of the Club given by Mrs. James Moffitt.

The speaker told of the organizational meeting and recalled the first group of officers elected to serve who were:

Mrs. King, president; Mrs. Moffitt, vice-president; Mrs. John Dunlap Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. Lee Shaner, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ella Hornbeck, treasurer; Mrs. C. C. Watts, historian and Miss Mary Wilder, librarian.

Mrs. Moffitt said, "Through the years Mr. Leslie Pontius, Robert

Farewell Party Held Saturday

Carl Hildenbrand of Columbus who is leaving Friday for the Armed Forces, was the honored guest when Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hildenbrand and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ankrom entertained with a farewell party in the Ankrom home on Watt street, Saturday evening.

After the guest of honor was presented with a gift from the group, refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith of Orient; Mr. and Mrs. William Neff, Ray Anderson and Robert Hatfield of Mt. Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Zimmerman of Clyde; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hildenbrand and the hosts.

Washington Grange Meets

Twenty-four members and juveniles were present for the meeting of Washington Grange, held Friday evening in Washington Township school.

David Bolender, delegate to State Grange convention, gave a report.

The program which followed featured the horse with readings on various breeds, where and how they are used.

Paul Elliott gave a talk on, "Wild Horses of the West." He also joined with Ralph DeLong in singing a vocal solo, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. DeLong.

Next meeting will be held one week later than the regular date on Feb. 29. At that time there will be a "pound" auction.

A. W. Bosworth Is Honored

Mrs. A. W. Bosworth entertained recently with a turkey dinner in honor of her husband's birthday.

Those present were: the Rev. and Mrs. H. Glen Crabtree and son Jack of Troy; Frank Sinarto of Crestline; Miss Margaret Lamb of Martins Ferry; Miss Ruth Norpeth of Ashville and Orley Bosworth of the home.

Couples Club Hears Talk On 'History Of Foods'

Presbyterian Couples Club of Geneva Fellowship met Sunday evening in the social rooms of the church. A covered dish dinner was served to members of the club and their guests. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Boerner and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Cunningham were hosts for the occasion.

Ed Grigg presided at the business meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Hal Spencer were placed in charge of finding overnight lodging for members of the Wooster Glee Club, appearing in the Presbyterian church, Mar. 22.

Emerson Spicer was appointed to supervise construction of platforms for use of the primary Sunday School department.

Milton Patterson, program chairman, introduced Tom Parsons who spoke to the group on the "History of Food." He said, in part:

"It is a mystery how people found certain foods were good to eat. Some foods we eat belong to, or are closely related to families which are very poisonous. Grasses are the plants most useful to mankind."

"The history of potatoes is most varied. First eaten and cultivated by the Inca Indians, there are more varieties of potatoes than any other vegetable. It differs in each place it grows because of climate and soil.

"Tomatoes were first called love apples and were thought to be deadly poisonous. They were grown simply because they looked nice in a flower garden."

"If one wonders why some things were not eaten sooner, it was because our early European forbears set great store by what the Bible said about food. They refused for many years to eat potatoes and rice because they were not mentioned in the Bible. Onions and garlic were considered products of the devil."

"Carrots were originally used for decorations in place of feathers and also to color butter. The oils from carrots were rubbed into furs as a protection against moths. In conclusion Mr. Parsons mentioned unusual foods originating in foreign countries."

Next meeting of the group will be March 9.

Proved In Use...Finest Automatic Drive Ever Built! PACKARD ULTRAMATIC

EXCELS ALL OTHERS IN SMOOTH PERFORMANCE AND DEPENDABILITY!

"A NO-SHIFT DRIVE unlike any other!" "Well ahead of anything now available!" "Something to send rival automakers back to their drawing boards!" These were the enthusiastic comments of magazine editors and engineering experts who tested Packard Ultramatic, triumph of 16 years' development. Use by thousands of Packard owners has proved Ultramatic outperforms all other automatic drives under all conditions!

● ● Packard Ultramatic is the first automatic, no-shift drive to combine the best features of both fluid and direct drives. It uses an all-fluid transmission—without gears of any sort—for smooth, surging pickup. It uses solid, direct drive for peak efficiency at cruising speeds and for full engine braking power when slowing down. It switches from one drive to the other instantly! It can be reversed in a split-second for easier parking and for rocking the car in sand or snow.

● ● Look at one more car. If you are going to spend $2500 for a car, then invest one hour in seeing how few dollars more it takes to own a Packard with thrilling Ultramatic. Packard costs less to buy than you may think, and the record over the years proves it costs less to own—for "Built like a Packard" means built to last!

ENGINEERED TO OUTPERFORM - BUILT TO OUTLAST THEM ALL!

- Only Packard has Ultramatic, proved to outperform all other automatic drives under all conditions.
- New Easomatic Power Brakes give you faster, surer stops—require 40% less foot pressure and take 29% less time to apply!
- Packard builds great engines! Packard's Thunderbolt Engine is the world's highest-compression eight—with up to 25% fewer working parts than in engines of comparable power!
- Packard's new shockproof steering—balanced for finger-tip control—makes driving and parking easier.
- You get the world's most luxurious ride in Packard's all-steel safety body, which is cushioned at all 18 mounting points. Seats are as wide as the car is high!
- Packard's safety-glass area of 3,046 1/2 square inches gives you complete, all-around visibility.
- Handsome new interiors and fresh exterior color combinations accent Packard's smart, low lines and youthful beauty.
- Every Packard car undergoes 4,287 separate inspections before it leaves the factory. "Built like a Packard" means built to last!

FACTS ABOUT MONEY!

THE WORD "MONEY"

Shortly after the Gallic invasion of Rome, roughly about 300 B.C., Lucius Furius built a temple to Jupiter Moneta and to this temple was attached the first Roman mint. The silver pieces coined in this mint were called "moneta" and hence our present-day word "money".

TAFT FACES JINX THAT HAUNTS SENATORS WHO SEEK PRESIDENCY

So did he

Robert A. Taft
Faces political jinx

By FRANKLIN JOHNSON
Central Press Correspondent
WASHINGTON — As Senator Robert A. Taft squares away for his supreme bid for the White House he may be bucking a formidable jinx of American politics—the handicap which members of the upper house of Congress seem to shoulder in trying to move from one end of Pennsylvania avenue to the other.

It's a paradox, because while it is axiomatic that few senators escape being bitten sooner or later by the presidential bug, comparatively few have made it, particularly since the turn of the century.

Senator Taft may have company in trying to reverse this political tide if Senator Estes Kefauver's Tennessee boom for the Democratic nomination gains momentum, and Senator Brien McMahon's (D), Connecticut, supporters, who circulated petitions for him in the Illinois primary, put him strongly in the running.

HARRY S. TRUMAN and the late Warren G. Harding are the only former senators who have won the presidency since 1900, and Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, who ran in 1924 as a Progressive, is the only other one to gain a major party nomination.

That is not to say that few have tried it. Among them, Senator James E. Watson of Indiana lost out when Herbert Hoover was nominated in 1928; fiery Hiram Johnson of California lost his bid in 1920, and Virginia's Harry F. Byrd was among the "stop Roosevelt" cohorts when F.D.R. first was tapped by the Democrats in 1932. The venerable William E. Borah of Idaho, after remaining coy for many presidential nomination seasons, finally went all-out in 1936, but Alfred M. Landon was nominated. The late Arthur E. Vandenberg of Michigan was prominently mentioned in 1944 and 1948 when Thomas E. Dewey was named by the GOP.

They joined such illustrious but unsuccessful senatorial presidential aspirants over the decades as Daniel Webster and John C. Calhoun. The great difficulty is, of course, that senators have the onus of declaring themselves in many record votes on troublesome issues. This handicapped numerous of the 10 senators who did win major party nominations.

HAVING to live in political glass houses undoubtedly hurt the chances of Henry Clay, who futilely carried the Whig standard three times and the Democrats' Stephen A. Douglas, who as "the Great Compromiser" lost many supporters on the state's rights issues leading to the Civil war and fell easy prey to Abraham Lincoln.

Taft and his senatorial colleagues who will figure in the nomination battles of the next few months must tread carefully on similar issues involving civil rights, universal military training, foreign affairs, and other potential political booby traps.

Governorships have proven the most fertile soil for presidential timber, no less than 20 standard-bearers sinking their political roots there, 11 of whom were successful.

No less than eight hailed from New York alone.

A Cabinet post used to be a good springboard, particularly secretary of state which in the early days produced Jefferson, Madison, Monroe and Van Buren. However, only Herbert Hoover, as secretary of commerce, and Senator Taft's father, William Howard Taft, a secretary of war, have capitalized on it in recent years.

THE MILITARY with six presidents and two unsuccessful aspirants, ranks about evenly with the Senate. Few nominees have risen from purely business or law backgrounds, that list including only John W. Davis, William Jennings Bryan and Horace Greeley for the Democrats, and Abraham Lincoln and Wendell L. Willkie for the Republicans.

The only representatives of the judiciary are the GOP's Charles Evans Hughes, who also is in the category of a New York governor, and the Democrats' Alton B. Parker.

Before 1900, however, the Senate did pretty well, with the Republicans' Benjamin Harrison and James G. Garfield; the Whigs' John C. Fremont, Franklin Pierce, and William Henry Harrison, and the Federalists' John Quincy Adams. So Taft and his colleagues have ample precedent that it can be done, even if it takes a deal of doing.

(Editor's Note: This is the second of four stories on the voters' struggle to pick a President.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 — Most people don't take an active part in politics because they are too busy making a living or woe, or lack interest. But, since we have a two-party system, and apparently want it, someone has to run the parties.

There has always been a politically-active minority willing to do the running. They range from the humble precinct workers to the fat-necked bosses. Their reasons vary. Some are earnest, considering it a social responsibility; some want power; and some have a lust for loot.

HISTORIAN Charles Beard noted that from away back in American history there have always been a few people who took over in a caucus, a convention, or a smoke-filled room. He noted that the "Boston Town Meeting, so celebrated in history for its democracy," fell "into the hands of a caucus long before the Declaration of Independence."

They bark and the rest of us trot like sheep.

This irks sometimes, particularly when we have to choose between a couple of hand-me-down presidential candidates tossed at us by the big shots. But some of the politically-active trot like sheep, too.

This shows up at a national political convention when a few on behind closed doors decide on the presidential candidate and the mass of delegates who think they're doing the nominating shout amen.

Up to the end of Washington's second term there had been no big political parties. And when a successor to him had to be chosen, it was done through arrangements between national and state leaders. The people had no say. For years afterwards presidential candidates were chosen by party caucuses in Congress, even though the parties had taken shape.

This method began to hit the skids in 1824 when Congress turned down Andrew Jackson. Four years later he got into the White House for two terms.

BUT HE WAS so scorched by the deal that he urged Congress, in eight annual messages, to set up direct primaries to let the people pick the party presidential candidates. Congress, of course, didn't, and still hasn't.

Sixteen states—including Ohio—still have primaries. They're a hodge-podge, each a little different from the other, a few pledging the delegates to vote at the convention as the people who elected them desire, some giving the delegates a free hand.

In the last few weeks measures have been offered in Congress to establish by law a national primary in one way or other. But don't bet anything is done about it. This year, anyway.

Sororities Asked To Curb Campaign

COLUMBUS, Feb. 13 — Sororities at Ohio State University are trying to spare their girls the grind of 31 "queen" and "sweet-heart" contests.

A special sorority governing group has recommended that the girls limit their campaigning to Homecoming and May queen contests. A two-page report said the cost of a large queen campaign might run more than $100 for each sponsoring group.

Clark County Nips Two Candidates

SPRINGFIELD, Feb. 13 — The Clark County board of elections has disqualified two candidates for delegate to national party conventions—one pledged to Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and the other to Republican Harold E. Stassen.

The board said neither Urban R. Juergens, pledged to Kefauver, nor Willie E. Bailey pledged to Stassen, had enough valid signatures on their petitions.

37th Getting Loads Of Mail

CAMP POLK, La., Feb. 13 — Soldiers of the 37th Division, formerly of the Ohio National Guard, are keeping in touch with the folks at home.

Division postal officers said members of the division are receiving and sending an average of 12,000 letters a day. In addition, they are receiving a daily average of more than 1,000 parcels, magazines and newspapers.

First successful operation inside the living heart was performed in 1949. Contributions to the Heart Fund helps physicians bring the latest advances to all sufferers from heart disease.

Cop-Cabbies Hit

CLEVELAND, Feb. 13 — Forty-six Cleveland policemen are working parttime as cab drivers, but Chief Frank W. Story doesn't like the idea and is going to tell them to quit their taxi jobs.

Early Shipping On Lakes Seen

CLEVELAND, Feb. 13 — There isn't enough ice in Lake Erie and Lake Ontario to put in a cocktail shaker and Weatherman C. George Andrus says that if—and it's a big if—the weather remains the same as now, Great Lakes shipping should be able to get off to an early start.

"Based on what we know today, everything points to an early opening of navigation," Andrus continued. "However, we do not like to make predictions about lake ice until around March 1."

Chillicothe Man Held For Forgery

COLUMBUS, Feb. 13 — A Chillicothe man has been arrested here for stealing mail and forging government checks.

Special Secret Service Agent Ralph W. Robuck said Burton Edward Rose, 23, was trapped in the basement of the Ohio School for the Deaf after neighbors had "baited" their mailboxes with empty check envelopes.

Bankers Told UMT Is Costly Scheme

COLUMBUS, Feb. 13 — The president of Cornell University told the Ohio Bankers Association at its mid-winter meeting Tuesday that Universal Military Training was a "scheme for a gargantuan boot-camp."

It would "cost billions of dollars, drain off thousands of officers and enlisted men to staff, and provide merely superficial training, inevitably outmoded amid the demands and portents of a possible World War III," said Dr. Deane W. Malott.

Rifle Show-Off Brings Lad Death

NORTHAMPTON, Pa., Feb. 13 — Donald Madeya, 10, of nearby Cementon, took out his .22 rifle to show it to playmates. He fired at an object in his backyard.

The bullet ricocheted and struck Donald in the neck. He died in the hospital a few hours after the accident.

Canada Population Totals 14 Million

OTTAWA, Feb. 13 — Canada's population has grown 21.8 per cent in 10 years and now totals 14,008,429.

Official census figures show the 5 doctors prove this plan breaks the laxative habit

If you take laxatives regularly—here's how you can stop!

Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you can break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three percent of the cases tested did it. So can you.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead: Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then—nothing!

Every day: drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity.

Five New York doctors proved this plan can break the laxative habit.

How can Carter's Little Liver Pills break the laxative habit?

Because Carter's not only "unblock" the lower digestive tract but they also improve the flow of liver bile that you need to be regular naturally.

Further—Carter's Little Liver Pills contain no habit-forming drugs.

Break the laxative habit... with Carter's Little Liver Pills... and be regular naturally.

When worry, overeating, overwork make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's Little Liver Pills temporarily. And never get the laxative habit.

Get Carter's Little Liver Pills for $7. today. You'll be grateful the rest of your life. For free sample, mail this ad with your name and address within 10 days to Department St. Carter Products, Inc., 35 Park Place, N. Y. 8, N. Y.

(Editor's Note: This is the second of four stories on the voters' struggle to pick a President).

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 — (P)—Most people don't take an active part in politics because they are too busy making a living or too busy with their families. But, since we have a two-party system, and apparently want it, someone has to run the parties.

There has always been a politically-active minority willing to do the running. They range from the humble precinct workers to the fat-necked bosses. Their reasons vary. Some are earnest, considering it a social responsibility; some want power; and some have a lust for loot.

AUCTION!
Clinton County Farm
108 ACRES
Saturday, Feb. 16, 1952
Sells On Premises at 2 p.m.

Located three miles East of Sabina, Ohio, and eight miles West of Washington C. H., just North of the CCC Highway on Borum Road in Richland Township.

One of Clinton County's best black dirt farms, improved with a complete set of farm buildings, including a substantial one-and-one-half-story frame house with six rooms and bath, front porch and enclosed back porch. Large barn 40 ft. x 72 ft. (barn is equipped for cattle and hog feeding and has large cement feeding area in connection); large tool shed; garage and shop combined; poultry house; storage building with cellar in connection, etc. New drilled well which furnishes an abundance of water. Kitchen has been modernized in the house. New electric hot water heater and hot and cold water under pressure. Buildings are substantial, adequate, and in a good state of repair. Land is level and all tillable except ten acres of woods. Soil is of the black loam variety and very productive. A very high percentage of the land on this farm is black. Good fences and drainage. General farm appearances are above the average.

This good 108-acre farm is exceptionally well located in a splendid agricultural section; just North of the CCC Highway on the Clinton and Fayette County line. Sabina school district; good roads in every direction. All modern rural conveniences available. Farm has been well cared for and is ready to go to work for a new owner. This is an unusual opportunity to buy one of the good medium sized farms in this section of Ohio. Inspection permitted prior to sale.

Sale on the premises. Sells to the highest bidder.

TERMS—$5,000.00 cash at time of sale, balance to be paid on delivery of deed. Purchaser will receive good title and possession by March 1, 1952.

22 acres of growing wheat goes with the farm.

Stoutsville, Amanda Score Wins In Opener Of Fairfield Tourney

Amanda Aces and Stoutsville Indians collected victories Tuesday night in the opening round of the 1952 Fairfield County basketball tournament in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Amanda scored a narrow 50-43 decision over Thurston in the tourney opener, while Stoutsville outlasted Rushville in the evening's finale and pounded to a 69-47 victory.

In other Fairfield County opening contests, Pickerington scored a 74-52 win over Berne Union; and Carroll posted a 76-60 win over Millersport.

Sam Schooley of the Amanda Aces combine earned the honor as scoring the first basket in the Fairfield tourney. Schooley hit on a jump shot after a scoreless three minutes of play in the opener.

AN ESTIMATED 1,400 fans were on hand for the Fairfield opener Tuesday night, although only 900 ducats were sold at the door. Tourney Manager David Davis said 500 passes are distributed in the Fairfield schools.

Final game of Tuesday's Fairfield opener was not completed until about midnight. Only a few of the more hardy stayed until the final horn sounded.

Tuesday's Amanda win advanced the Aces into the quarterfinals of the Fairfield tourney, while Stoutsville's win elevated the Indians cagers into the semi-finals of the winner's bracket.

In the Amanda-Thurston opener, the Aces ripped off an 11-4 advantage in the first frame, while posting a 28-11 margin at the half.

Thurston, cellar club in the Fairfield league without a win to its credit, started to battle back in the third period of the test and outscored the Aces in the final two frames. Amanda closed out the contest with 38-23 and 50-43.

Dick Bowman was high scorer for the Aces in the fracas with 16 points, while Thurston's Ted Miller and Wright Calvin paced the losers with 13 each.

Amanda's next test will be at 7 p. m. Thursday against Liberty Union.

In the Stoutsville-Rushville encounter, Stoutsville opened its attack slowly and the eventual outcome of the match was doubtful as late as the third period of play.

STOUTSVILLE HELD only a meagre 17-15 first-period edge over the Rushvillers, while taking a 30-27 lead at the half.

The Indians began stepping up their scoring attack in the third frame to post a 41-34 edge over the Rushville team, while collecting 28 points in a high-scoring final period and allowing Rushville to tally only 13.

Tow-headed Doyle Garrett was high scorer for the Stoutsville quintet in the fracas with a total of 16 points. Rushville's Dick Miller was tops for the losers with 10.

Stoutsville's next encounter will be in the semi-finals of the tourney next Tuesday against the winner of a Carroll-Bremen match. Bremen is the Fairfield league champ with an unmarred season of 10 wins.

Stoutsville, Amanda Score Wins In Opener Of Fairfield Tourney

Amanda Aces and Stoutsville Indians collected victories Tuesday night in the opening round of the 1952 Fairfield County basketball tournament in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Amanda scored a narrow 50-43 decision over Thurston in the tournament opener, while Stoutsville outlasted Rushville in the evening's finale and pounded to a 69-47 victory.

In other Fairfield County opening contests, Pickerington scored a 74-52 win over Berne Union; and Carroll posted a 76-60 win over Millersport.

Sam Schooley of the Amanda Aces combine earned the honor as scoring the first basket in the Fairfield tourney. Schooley hit on a jump shot after a scoreless three minutes of play in the opener.

AN ESTIMATED 1,400 fans were on hand for the Fairfield opener Tuesday night, although only 900 duets were sold at the door. Tourney Manager David Davis said 550 passes are distributed in the Fairfield schools.

Final game of Tuesday's Fairfield opener was not completed until about midnight. Only a few of the more hardy stayed until the final horn sounded.

Tuesday's Amanda win advanced the Aces into the quarterfinals of the Fairfield tourney, while Stoutsville's win elevated the Indian cagers into the semi-finals of the winner's bracket.

In the Amanda-Thurston opener, the Aces ripped off an 11-4 advantage in the first frame while posting a 28-11 margin at the half.

Thurston, cellar club in the Fairfield league without a win to its credit, started to battle back in the third period of the test and outscored the Aces in the final two frames. Amanda closed out the contest with 38-23 and 50-43.

Dick Bowman was high scorer for the Aces in the fracas with 16 points, while Thurston's Ted Miller and Wright Calvin paced the losers with 13 each.

Amanda's next test will be at 7 p. m. Thursday against Liberty Union.

In the Stoutsville-Rushville encounter, Stoutsville opened its attack slowly and the eventual outcome of the match was doubtful as late as the third period of play.

STOUTSVILLE HELD only a meagre 17-15 first-period edge over the Rushvillers, while taking a 30-27 lead at the half.

The Indians began stepping up their scoring attack in the third frame to post a 41-34 edge over the Rushville team, while collecting 28 points in a high-scoring final period and allowing Rushville to tally only 13.

Tow-headed Doyle Garrett was high scorer for the Stoutsville quintet in the fracas with a total of 16 points. Rushville's Dick Miller was tops for the losers with 10.

Stoutsville's next encounter will be in the semi-finals of the tourney next Tuesday against the winner of a Carroll-Bremen match. Bremen is the Fairfield league champ with an unmarred season of 10 wins.

Marciano Figures To Cakewalk To Early Victory Over Savold

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Rocky Marciano, young, lusty and unbeaten, figures to chalk up his 17th straight victory Wednesday night in a scheduled 10 round fight against the battleworn, 35-year-old Lee Savold.

The 27-year-old Marciano is a heavy favorite to demolish Savold in an early round. But before the former Brockton, Mass., cobbler gets too confident he might read a page of Convention Hall fight history.

It was 18 years ago Wednesday that Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion, climbed into the ring to face Steve Hamas. The German was an overwhelming favorite, but when the fight was over, Hamas was the winner. Maybe the veteran Savold, from Patterson, N. J., will draw some superhuman effort from this memory.

Certainly, Savold has few supporters. Even the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission indicated it was concerned about the possibility the fight might be a turkey from the standpoint of competition.

AT LAST WEEK'S physical examination, Commissioner John Dargatzis told both boxers that he had been asked by many people, "why this fight?"

It's a cinch the fight won't be a turkey financially. A crowd of 13,000 is expected to pay some $90,000 to see the battle. Promoter Herman Taylor is confident his old gate record of $85,419 for the Bob Montgomery-Wesley Mouzon fight in 1946 will be topped.

Marciano will receive 30 per cent of the gate, plus a proportionate share of the $35,000 melon being paid for national television and broadcast rights. The Columbia Broadcasting System will carry the fight over its radio and TV outlets from coast-to-coast.

All-New Women's Swim Team Ahead

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 13.—(AP)—An all-new U. S. women's Olympic swimming team will be selected in tryouts here the weekend of July 4.

All members of the champion American women's Olympic team of 1948 have retired. Ann Curtis was the star of that group, setting the women's Olympic record of 5:17.8 in the 400-meter free style. The U. S. squad will be financed entirely by public subscription and gate receipts. Dick Papenuth of Purdue University will be the coach.

Winter Olympics Opening Awaited

OSLO, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The flaming Olympic torch, born high by the first of a gigantic relay of 100 men on skis, started Wednesday on its 170-mile journey from Moredal, the birthplace of modern skiing, to the opening ceremonies of the winter Olympic games in Oslo.

At the same time the torch left Moredal, the Oslo weather bureau sorrowfully announced there seems no prospect for snow in Southern Norway "for at least three or four days."

Wellsville Cager Tallies 57 Points

WELLSVILLE, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Clarence "Bevo" Francis, 19-year-old center on Wellsville High's basketball team, piled up 57 points in a game Tuesday night with Alliance.

It set a new single game scoring record for major Ohio high schools this year. Francis shot 23 field goals, and 11 out of 14 free throws in the game which Wellsville won, 79 to 50. Six feet, eight and a half inches tall, Francis has a 30.4 average per game.

Baseball 'Steals' Basketball Star

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Ever hear of a baseball club pulling a steal on a basketball team?

Cage Coach Jack Horenberger of Illinois Wesleyan claims the Chicago White Sox did it to him. "All my basketball team lacks," he said "is a standout guard. We would have had one this season if the White Sox had not signed our Bobby Winkles for a $10,000 bonus."

Winkles, a shortstop, played with the Sox Colorado Springs farm club last season.

To many, any exception smacks of developing an elite class. Unfortunately, the engineer and the scientist are persons apart because they possess unusual skills that few of us can cultivate. Men of this intellectual discipline are sometimes irreplaceable.

There is the problem and it can only be met by giving young men with such skills special consideration, as much as it is antagonistic to American ideals to think of human beings as a class or to regard one occupational group as superior to another. The fact is that the engineer and the scientist become increasingly essential the more we go to war.

New Contact Lens Said Perfected

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP)—A contact lens no bigger than a drop of water, and weighing less, has been perfected after 27 years of research.

Dr. William Feinbloom told the Brooklyn Optometrical Society the "water drop" lenses have been used for one to three years by boxers, baseball players, underwater demolition experts, circus performers, opera stars and actors. And in 93 per cent of the cases they were successful, he said.

Record Number Of Night Games Due This Year In Major Leops

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—Year by year the major leagues are moving closer to converting baseball to strictly an after-dark, Sunday and holiday sport.

Release of the official playing schedules of the American and National Leagues show a record number of night games will be played in the majors this season. With the St. Louis Cardinals leading the way, the majors will play 438 of their 1,132 games under the arc-lights, just under 39 per cent. Allowing 26 per cent for the 12 Sunday and three holiday dates, that leaves only 35 per cent for the weekday games.

The National League has scheduled 222 arc light contests to 216 for the American. The National's previous high was 209 last year while the American staged 204 evening tilts in 1940.

There will be no special openers this year, marking the first time in years Washington will not have a preview in the American League.

Tuesday, April 15, will be opening day for both leagues. The campaign will close on Sunday, Sept. 28.

The home opening round will be as follows:

National League — Philadelphia at New York, Brooklyn at Boston, Chicago at Cincinnati and Pittsburgh at St. Louis.

American League — New York at Philadelphia, Boston at Washington, St. Louis at Detroit, Cleveland at Chicago.

Social Security Office Answers Tax Payment Questions

Farmers Are Required To File Returns

Employees' Status Is Explained

Although amendments to the Social Security Act in 1950 extended old-age and survivors insurance protection to regular farm employees, many questions have arisen over payment of the Social Security tax.

Most Pickaway farmers who have employed regular hired help are generally familiar now with procedure in filing quarterly tax returns, a spokesman from the Columbus Social Security Administration office pointed out, but still numerous inquiries from farmers are being received.

Questions regarding payment of the Social Security tax and also in determining the status of regular and temporary employees are general, the spokesman said.

In order to clarify the situation, the office offered the following information:

THE QUARTERLY SOCIAL Security tax return, together with the tax remittance, should be submitted to the Collector of Internal Revenue.

The tax remittance is three per cent of the total wages of all employees listed on the quarterly tax return. One and one-half per cent of this amount is withheld from each employee's earnings and the other one and one-half per cent is contributed by the employer.

Any employee who has "qualified" by working continuously for an employer during one of the three-month periods beginning with January, April, July or October and in the next three months works at least 60 days and earns $50 is termed a regular employee.

If a farm operator has an employee who has qualified and worked 60 days and earned $50 after the qualifying quarter, the farmer should apply for an employer's identification number.

This may be done, the spokesman explained, by notifying the nearest Collector of Internal Revenue or Social Security office.

A QUARTERLY SOCIAL Security tax return will be mailed to the employer from the office of the Collector of Internal Revenue.

Pickaway farm owners are urged to have farm workers who have qualified as regular employees obtain Social Security cards.

The Social Security tax deductions withheld from an employee's wages will be credited to the wage earner's Social Security account number, and he will start building toward insurance benefits payable to him and his children under 18 years of age, when he stops work at 65 or later.

When the wage earner's wife reaches the age of 65, she will be also eligible for Social Security benefits in the amount of one-half of that of the wage earner.

Even if she is not yet 65, she will start getting monthly benefit payments when her husband's payments start, if she is caring for their minor children.

Benefits are also payable to the School Tuition Payment Refused

ELYRIA, Feb. 13.—Elyria is refusing to pay tuition for two school children who are wards of the county child welfare department.

Harry Howell, executive secretary of the welfare department, said this means the children, described as legal residents of Elyria, have been barred from classes. They, like about 70 other wards in other communities, have been going to school in Oberlin, but were sent home. Oberlin School Superintendent Charles Wigton said that Elyria was the only community that refused to pay tuition.
